Traffic signal not warranted at Walmart

By CRYSTAL FOSTER

FAYETTE - The Fayette County Commission met Tuesday, May 27 at 6 p.m. County engineer Bobby McCraw advised the commission that a letter had been received from Dee Rowe with the Alabama Department of Transportation division office in Tuscaloosa regarding the traffic study performed at Walmart.

"The main thing the letter said was there has not been five crashes occur in a 12 month period, therefore no traffic signal is warranted," said McCraw. He added that the speed study revealed the average speed was 56.3, so ALDOT recommended leaving the speed limit at 55 mph. Commissioner John Underwood commented that he thought there were five crashes within a year. "If you have something that shows that, let me know so I can ask them (ALDOT) to check their crash report," said McCraw.

Dippin' Dots a hit as Aquatic Park opens second season

By BO BLACK
T-R Associate Editor
trsports@centurytel.net

FAYETTE - Three days in to its second season, people are slipping and sliding down the three water slides at the Fayette Aquatic Center, they're floating along the lazy river and everyone is eating up the Dippin' Dots. The water park sold out of Dippin' Dots in two-and-a-half days and have already made plans to get a bigger freezer.

Sue Tucker, director and marketing manager of the aquatic park, updated the Fayette City Council on how things have been in the first few days at the May 27 meeting.

"Y'all would have been so excited about the lazy river and so proud," she said. "It was packed. We've had a lot of people that did not come last year and they were amazed."

Tucker spoke of one instance where one grandmother came to her and said she thought they were going to the splash pad because that was all that was there the last time she came.

"She said it was unbelievable," Tucker said. "That's the comments we've been getting."

On opening day, the water park had 348 people in attendance, along with two private parties. The following day, Sunday, May 25, 187 people attended with two private parties that followed. The biggest day of the first three days was Memorial Day with 460 people in attendance, along with one private party. In the first three days, the water park brought in $14,687.15.

Tucker said one thing they take great pride in is keeping the water park clean and that people have noticed.

"That is a testament to our lifeguards," she said. Tucker said everything is cleaned before the gates open, between the booked parties and following the last party of the night. There are 62 people that make up the lifeguard, admissions and concessions staff. Of those 62 employees, 55 are from Fayette, five are from Berry, one is from Hubbertville and one is from Vernon.

The following lifeguards are from Fayette: Anna Greene, 16; Anna Marie Porter, 17; Audrey Norris, 15; Autumn Bonner, 19; Ben Randolph, 17; Bo Uhlman, 16; Bradley Smith, 18; Carli Beth Whitehead, 16; Cooper Lawrence, 15; Courtney Cosby, 18; Dylan Simmons, 15; Eric Bynum, 17; Gene Fulmer, 18; Grant Eason, 17; Hanna Crowley, 19; Hannah Humber, 20; Jacey McGuire, 17; John Smith, 18; Justin Hayes, 23; Kash Ellison, 19; Kassidy Beam, 17; Kelsey Nolen, 23; Kirstyn Oliver, 20; Lindsay Hayes, 15; Matt Bryan, 19; Michael Gravlee, 17; Ray Beede, 17; Shep Davis, 17; Sidney Thomas, 16; Tyler Hayes, 18; Tyler Wright, 18; Wendy Bagwell, 17; Zach Campbell, 18 and Zack Hayes, 17.

“Treasures from the Rubble” documentary to be aired June 22 on Alabama Public Television

“Treasures from the Rubble,” a prize-winning one-hour documentary, will be aired statewide on Alabama Public Television on Sunday, June 22 beginning at 6 p.m. The film tells the vibrant story of the extraordinary Alabamians who created a museum that became a tourist destination and an Alabama educational gem.

The film is called “Treasures from the Rubble” because it is at heart a story about humble Americans with few connections but boundless talent who are inspired by the thrown-away materials they find where they live. Their vision has no rules or precedents, just native genius.

The central character is Lois Wilson, a cantankerous art rebel and Fayette native, who gave form to her imagination out of the rubble of deep poverty, creating art from discarded objects, from black shoe polish to broken drawers.

Her dream of establishing a museum in Fayette attracted the interest of Jack Black, a local newspaperman, and eventually brought them together in the creation of a museum.

Jimmy Lee Sudduth, the town's most famous artist, does a star turn in the film as he paints with mud, plays his harmonica and talks about his life and techniques.

The Fayette Art Museum literally put Fayette on the tourist map when National Geographic flagged the museum as a regional attraction.

The achievements of the film to date include the national premiere, May 17, 2012, Tupelo Film Festival, Mississippi; the international premiere, June 23, 2012, Female Eye Film Festival, Toronto, Canada; the Alabama Red Carpet premiere, August 24, 2012, Fayette; and the New York premiere, December 7, 2013, Hamptons Take 2 Documentary Festival in Sag Harbor, New York.

“Treasures from the Rubble” received highest commendation from both the House of Representatives and the Senate of the State of Alabama.

The Treasures website has the documentary's trailer and a wealth of background information about the film. We invite you to take a look at www.treasuresfromtherubble.com

Chase Evan to open Tunes on Temple

FAYETTE - The annual Tunes on Temple summer concerts will begin Friday, June 6 at 7 p.m. on the courthouse lawn.

To open the concert series, the Fayette Area Chamber of Commerce will welcome Chase Evan, one of the premier acoustic musicians in west Alabama.

Evan was born and raised in Northport and has always remained close to his hometown, his family and friends. He grew up in a family that loves music. Sitting around and singing or playing guitar during holiday and family "get togethers" is the norm. It wasn't until he was at a Rob Thomas Concert that Chase Evan discovered music was his passion.

At the concert, Chase says he felt how music affects people and how a true musical artist not only sings from his heart, but from his soul. "Music reaches out to all people," said Chase. "No matter where you have been, what you are going through, or how you got where you are, music lasts forever."

Chase enjoys playing for his friends and family, at his church, local restaurants, bars, private parties, weddings and receptions, but above all he just loves to share his music.

Everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy fun, fellowship and great music. Remember to bring your lawn chairs!

Opinion

Inside the Statehouse

You know the results of Tuesday's primary elections. However, my column had to go to press prior to Tuesday's vote. Therefore, we will discuss and analyze the outcome next week.

It is doubtful that there were any surprises. Gov. Robert Bentley more than likely waltzed to the GOP nomination. He will probably face Parker Griffith in this fall's General Election. Ironically, both Griffith and Bentley are 72-year-old retired physicians. It is not likely that matchup has ever occurred in an Alabama Governor's race.

Sen. Jeff Sessions was on the GOP ballot yesterday but it was only a formality. Sessions has drawn a base on balls for his fourth six-year term in Washington. Our congressional delegation will continue to be made up of eight Republicans and one Democrat. We will have six GOP congress people and one lone Democrat. Both of our U.S. Senators, Sessions and Richard Shelby, are Republican.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the historic watershed Goldwater Republican southern landslide. That 1964 election changed the partisan political landscape of the Deep South. On this date in 1964 our entire congressional delegation was all Democratic. What a difference 50 years makes.

Let me take you back to the fall of 1964. Our senatorial team of Lister Hill and John Sparkman was unparalleled. This duo was the envy of every state in the nation. Along with Hill and Sparkman, strolling along the Potomac from Alabama at that time was an eight member congressional delegation that boasted over 120 years of longevity in Washington.

Among the group were the likes of George Andrews, George Grant, Albert Rains, Bob Jones, Carl Elliot, Armistead Selden, Kenneth Roberts and George Huddleston. These gentlemen were similar in backgrounds. It was as though they were born planning their paths to Congress. Amazingly all eight graduated from the University of Alabama Law School and were all attorneys by profession.

George Andrews was born in Barbour County, the Home of Governors. He served for years from the old 3rd District, which covered the southeastern part of the state.

George Grant was also born in Barbour County. However, he practiced law in Troy before going to Congress in 1938. Grant followed Lister Hill as the Representative of the 2nd District for 28 years.

Albert Rains represented the 5th District for 20 years. He was a very effective Congressman for the people of Gadsden and Sand Mountain. He was a successful businessman and banker besides being an attorney and congressman.

Rains' friend and neighbor to the north was the legendary Bob Jones of Scottsboro. Bob Jones very effectively represented the Tennessee Valley for over 20 years.

Carl Elliot of Walker County was born in rural Franklin County. He represented the northwest Alabama area for 16 years. He was a legendary liberal. Like all of his colleagues at this time, he was a graduate of the University of Alabama Law School and a true Horatio Alger story.

Armistead Selden was an aristocratic Black Belter from Greensboro. He represented his home area for two decades.

Kenneth Roberts was born in Piedmont and practiced law in Anniston before going to Congress in 1951. He served the area where he was born for 14 years in Washington.

George Huddleston was Birmingham's Congressman in 1964. He was born in Birmingham and was a U.S. Attorney before representing Jefferson County for 12 years in Congress.

These gentlemen assumed that they would be in Congress forever as they strolled along the Potomac in the fall of 1964. However, there were some strong headwinds howling back home in Alabama. This storm cloud was hovering over the entire South.

Lyndon Johnson and the Democrats had passed a Civil Rights Act earlier that year. White southerners were livid. They vented their anger on the national Democratic Party on Election Day in November of 1964.

The South changed Parties that day. This sea change was known as the Goldwater landslide. Alabamians not only voted for Barry Goldwater for President, they vehemently pulled the Republican lever. Thus, voting for every Republican on the ballot.

This straight ticket voting wiped out five of Alabama's veteran Democratic Congressmen. Included in the carnage were George Grant, Albert Rains, Carl Elliott, Kenneth Roberts and George Huddleston. These men had a total of 90 years of seniority. The GOP tidal wave swept a lot of Alabama Washington ammunition into the Potomac on that day 50 years ago this year.

See you next week.

Alabama Accountability Act ruled unconstitutional Politicians squalled, educators cheered

Reaction to Montgomery County Circuit Judge Gene Reese's ruling that the Alabama Accountability Act is unconstitutional was just as expected.

Politicians squalled, educators cheered. Rep Chad Fincher of Mobile County, one of the sponsors of AAA, said the Reese ruling was a "political stunt" while Decatur school superintendent Ed Nichols called it a "bad bill" that was not put together well.

The legislation, passed in 2013 by the supermajority Republican House and Senate, diverted $40 million from the special education trust fund to fund tax rebates and credits to allow public school students in "failing schools" to receive scholarships to attend private schools.

Reese ruled that the manner in which the bill was enacted was unconstitutional in several respects. He also pointed out the AAA runs afoul of constitutional prohibitions against public funds being directed to non-public schools.

The Reese ruling will be appealed to the Alabama Supreme Court to see if they interpret the constitution as he does.

One of the three plaintiffs who brought suit was Dr. Daniel Boyd, superintendent of the Lowndes County school system of less than 1,700 students. A Black Belt county between Montgomery and Selma, this is exactly the kind of school system proponents of AAA say they want to help.

But instead, it is a glaring example of how the legislation has utterly failed. The system has two failing schools, Lowndes Middle with 171 students and Hayneville Middle with 248. Any public school student in the sixth, seventh or eighth grade in the county attends one of these schools.

There are no other choices.

According to the AAA, all of these 419 students have the option of transferring to a non-failing school within the system, to a school in another system or to a private school. (That is, provided another system or private school will accept them. AAA allows them to refuse students from failing schools.)

By LARRY LEE
Guest Columnist

In this case, option one is not an option, while options two and three mean students have to travel to Montgomery, Selma or Greenville and provide their own transportation.

Considering that Lowndes County is one of the poorest in the U.S. with median household income that is only 53 percent of the national average, transportation is a major roadblock.

So it's hardly a surprise that figures from the state department of education show not a single student in Lowndes County left their failing school. In fact, of the 35 systems with failing schools, 14 others besides Lowndes had no transfers.

So all the talk from the legislature about "kids should not be trapped in failing schools by their zip codes" was just that. Talk, nothing else. The proponents of the AAA told 419 kids in Lowndes County that help was on the way—but it was only a charade.

And what they didn't tell them was even though they would not be helped, they would still have to pay. Official figures show it cost the Lowndes County system $94,926 as their portion of the $40 million AAA price tag.

So we promised them help, which we didn't deliver and then we charged them for help that never came.

We have it all wrong. Instead of asking kids in poor schools to make sacrifices to benefit businesses, we should ask businesses to make sacrifices to benefit kids in poor schools.

Daniel Boyd understands this. It's the world he deals with daily.

Yet standing up for kids and speaking out against this legislative shell game is called a "political stunt."

No, it's not a stunt—it is "courage."

Letter to the Editor

A number of misconceptions

Dear Editor,

The affordable care act, aka, Obamacare, has a number of misconceptions. One, there is no death panel. This arose due to an original proposal that certain medical procedures be denied due to age. However, this was never a part of the legislation. Another, it does not afford protection for undocumented aliens. And, members of congress are not exempt from the law.

The genesis of the law came from the heritage foundation, a conservative think tank in Washington, D. C. It is an organization which promotes limited government, capitalism and a strong nation defense. Their ideas were the start of Romneycare in Massachusetts. One concept is to force more participation in medical insurance to control costs.

The insured do receive benefits from the affordable care act, such as keeping a child on a parent's insurance until age 26. Another is holding down insurance profits to between 15 and 20 percent. Also, prior illness are covered and the insurers can not cancel you due to illness. The monetary cap of one million dollars is eliminated. So, it has great ideas. But one can argue that these add on's can cause premiums to rise. No free lunch here. Our nice Governor has rejected the expansion of medicaid. Why? For fear of being called a Buddhist with compassion for the poor.

Buddy Causey returns to Celebrate Recovery

FAYETTE - Popular recording artist/southern rock R&B singer, Buddy Causey, will be coming back to Fayette on Thursday, June 5. He will be sharing his inspirational songs and amazing story of hope and healing during the Celebrate Recovery worship at 7 p.m. at Fayette First United Methodist Church.

His music is wonderful and his story of hitting rock bottom and losing everything, even his voice and his sight, and how everything was restored is amazing! He is a testimony of the hope and healing that Christ brings. This event is open to the entire community and will be held in the fellowship hall. (Court-yard entrance by the fountain.)

The Celebrate Recovery program meets every Thursday night at Fayette First Methodist at 7 p.m. Celebrate Recovery is a 12-step recovery program similar to AA and NA, but it is intentionally Christ-centered, designed to help people with all kinds of hurts, habits and hang-ups. The program is a community-wide program including people from all walks of life, church and un-church alike, who are seeking help and healing from life's struggles.

At right is Buddy Causey. For more information visit his website at www.buddycasey.com

Absalom

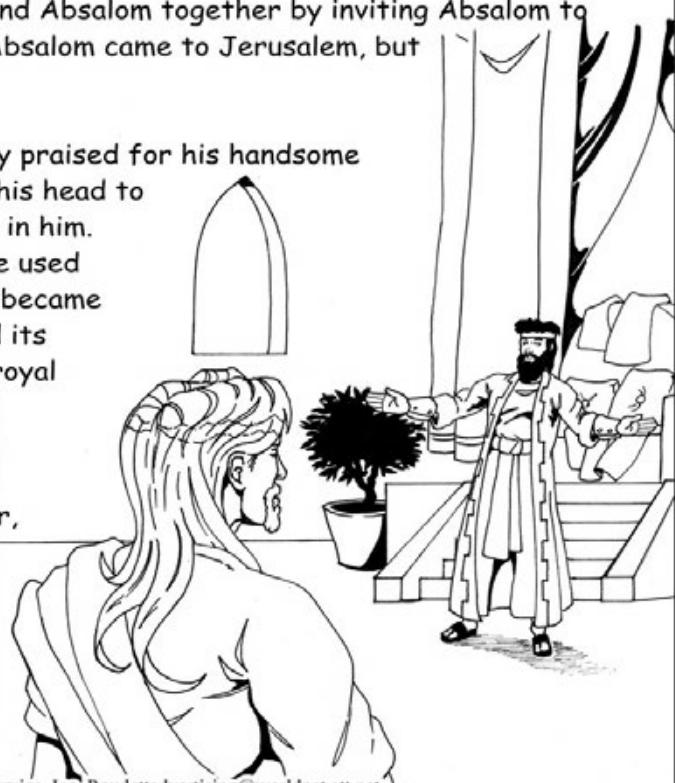

II Samuel 14

David Longed to see his son, Absalom while Absalom lived in exile. Joab, David's army commander, devised a plan to get David and Absalom together by inviting Absalom to return to Jerusalem. David agreed and Absalom came to Jerusalem, but king David would not see him.

In all Israel there was not a man so highly praised for his handsome appearance as Absalom. From the top of his head to the sole of his foot there was no blemish in him. Whenever he cut the hair of his head, he used to cut his hair from time to time when it became too heavy for him, he would weigh it, and its weight was two hundred shekels by the royal standard.

Three sons and a daughter were born to Absalom. The daughter's name was Tamar, and she became a beautiful woman.

After two years Absalom was invited to come before his father and the king welcomed him with a kiss.

Taking Care of business Treasures

Treasures is located in downtown Fayette directly across the street from our beautiful, historic courthouse. Our specialty is collectible gifts, fine and costume jewelry and investment art work. Nowhere in Alabama will you find a store as unique and different as Treasures. For that hard to shop for person, Treasures has the perfect gift that is sure to please.

Treasures first love was jewelry and it still is. Diane Fisher started the store with one small case of gold and silver jewelry inside Fisher's in 1987. Today, we still love working with each customer one-on-one to find or create that perfect piece of jewelry made from gold, white gold, silver or platinum. Our selection of silver and costume jewelry is massive. Shop now and find the complete collection of Blue Luster jewelry priced at 50% off.

Art is our specialty. Selected signed and numbered canvas from famous artists such as Thomas Kinkade, Mark Keathley and Robert Kinard. Visit the Wide World of Disney by the famous James Coleman, Rodel Gonzalez, Salvati and Manny Hernandez. All sizes, different prices and framed or unframed canvas is available.

But we still think the best treasure lies not in what is on our shelves or hanging on the our walls, but in the kind, courteous, knowledgeable and helpful personnel you will find in our store. We are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. On Saturdays, we are open from 9 a.m. to noon. Come see us today!
